PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Wake Forest Economics Department, Dr. Alba-Vivar — Winston-Salem, NC ECONOMICS RESEARCH ASSISTANT — September 2025 – May 2026

- Constructed an original geo-referenced dataset of transportation strikes in Lima, Peru from 2022–2025 through archival research and event coding of Spanish-language news sources, producing 1,101 observations across 11 variables.
- Translated causal findings into Stata time-series visuals and choropleth maps, showing a 37-point attendance drop during strikes.
- Cleaned unstructured administrative datasets from Peru's university system and Colombia's sexual violence crime reports, and contributed English and Spanish literature analysis to a working paper's literature review.

iHeartMedia — Manhattan, NY
MULTI-MARKET PARTNERSHIPS INTERN — June 2025 – August 2025

- Built an AI-assisted (Gemini) research workflow to automate client vetting before meetings, saving supervisors 4 hours weekly.
- Conducted attribution analysis in Salesforce for sales teams on multi-market account campaigns billing $500K+.
- Researched market trends and produced client-ready insight reports and case studies for a newsletter to 300 top sellers.
- Led a cross-departmental team of 20 interns to design and present a multi-market campaign proposal to senior VPs.

ANALYTICAL PROJECTS

ECG Patient-Matching Model — Python, TensorFlow
In a team of 3, built a working prototype of a Siamese neural network that predicts whether two ECGs belong to the same patient, reaching 0.97 AUROC on 750 unseen hospital patients and 0.92 on Apple Watch ECGs without retraining. Led reproducibility testing and quality assurance by validating each result across 10 training runs and placed 2nd at the Wake Forest ECG-AI Build-a-Thon.

Financial Services Fraud Diagnostic Case — SQL, Python (In Progress)
In a team of 5, querying a synthetic business-wide database with 43 tables and 5M+ rows in PostgreSQL to translate ambiguous problems into SQL query logic. Employing automated feature engineering to develop a model that predicts fraud in Python.

New York State Scholarship Policy Analysis — Stata
Built a Difference-in-Differences model in Stata to evaluate the Excelsior Scholarship's impact on bachelor's degree completion in New York against Pennsylvania, using 53,000+ IPUMS CPS observations. Applied OLS with demographic controls and robustness tests and defended a null result, arguing the structural ineffectiveness of last-dollar scholarship policies in a 20-page economic paper.
